PLAINTIFF UThERVERSE GAMING’S
MOTION FOR LEAVE TO FILE
MOTION IN LIMINE NO. 11

Noting Date: May 8, 2025

16
17 Pursuant to Local Rule 7(d)(5), Plaintiff Utherverse Gaming, LLC (“Utherverse Gaming”) moves for leave to file motion in limine No. 11. As detailed in the proposed motion in limine attached hereto as Exhibit A, Utherverse Gaming seeks to preclude Epic Games, Inc. (“Epic Games”) from introducing or attempting to introduce evidence, argument, or testimony concerning Case No. 3:25-cv-00020 filed by Utherverse, Inc. and Brian Shuster in the District of Nevada on January 10, 2025 (the “Nevada Action”) and Case No. 30-2024-01438251 filed against Brian Shuster, Utherverse, Inc., Utherverse Digital, Inc., and Utherverse Gaming LLC in the Superior Court of California, County of Orange filed on November 1, 2024 (“the California Action”) (collectively, the “Unrelated Litigations”).

CERTIFICATION OF MEET AND CONFER

Utherville Gaming engaged Epic Games in writing on Tuesday, April 29 concerning the substance of the proposed motion in limine. Before that April 29 outreach, Utherville Gaming became informed that Epic Games had been in conversations with adverse counsel in the Unrelated Litigations.

The underlying substance of the Nevada Action from the Unrelated Actions involves a claim by Mr. Shuster and Utherville, Inc. against various third-parties for fraud and related causes of action; that action is pending. Neither Utherville Gaming nor Epic Games are a party to the Nevada Action. The '605 Patent is not at issue in the Nevada Action. The Nevada Action has no relevance or bearing on the outcome, facts, or any other matter relevant or related to the present action.

The California Action has been dismissed but involved similar allegations and cross-claims of fraud. The Nevada Action followed dismissal of this action. Like the Nevada Action, Epic Games was not a party to the action, nor was the '605 Patent at issue. And while Utherville Gaming was initially named, that naming was in error as detailed in the attached motion in limine. The California Action otherwise has no relevance or bearing on the outcome, facts, or any other material relevant or related to the present action.

In the April 29 outreach, Utherville Gaming inquired as to whether Epic Games sought to “introduce or solicit any evidence or testimony at trial concerning said litigations or the subject matter thereof” noting that “any such testimony or evidence [would] be irrelevant at the least.” Epic Games replied later that day that it “did not intend to reference this litigation in opening” but that any other reference “depends on the substance of Mr. Shuster’s testimony on direct.” Utherville Gaming replied the morning of Wednesday, April 30 that while it appreciated the exclusion of references on opening, that “the ‘depends’ as to Mr. Shuster’s direct casts an ambiguously wide net.”

A telephonic meet and confer took place later that afternoon. Utherville Gaming reiterated

1 its position that the Unrelated Litigations were irrelevant and prejudicial. As detailed in the 2 underlying motion, allowing this matter to be addressed at trial time on objection during Mr.
3 Shuster's cross-examination risks turning the matter into a 'sideshow' before the jury given the
4 character of certain of the parties involved in the Unrelated Litigations. Epic Games proposed
5 certain scenarios involving investors in Utherville Digital that might cause the Unrelated
6 Litigations to be relevant. Without conceding relevance, Utherville Gaming indicated it was 7 willing to stipulate to avoid such testimony. Epic Games, however, could not commit to a broader 8 stipulation.

9 Epic Games agreed that it would discuss a broader stipulation and that the matter would be
10 held in abeyance (without waiver by Utherville Gaming) and not addressed during the Thursday,
11 May 1 pre-trial conference call with the Court. The parties agreed to work toward mutual accord.
12 Utherville Gaming followed up on Monday, May 5 and was advised that the Epic Games team
13 was in transit. Utherville Gaming responded that the issue needed to be "substantively
14 advance[ed]" by the end of the day Tuesday, May 6. On Tuesday, May 6, Utherville Gaming
15 again followed up indicating "[b]ut for resolution (or some sign of pendency thereof)," that
16 Utherville Gaming "will file a motion for leave and to shorten time [May 7] by noon" and asking
17 "Epic's opposition [be] due by noon on Thursday (i.e. 24 hours later)" without further reply by 18 Utherville Gaming. Epic Games replied: "[t]hat schedule is fine with us. Please go ahead and 19 file your motion accordingly."

20 21 ARGUMENT

22 As of this motion, Epic has not offered any formal proffer allowing for resolution of the 23 proposed motion in limine. Good cause exists for filing a motion in limine out of time because 24 these Unrelated Litigations were (1) not filed until after the previous August 30, 2024 Motion in
25 Limine deadline (ECF No. 399), (2) the possibility of the Unrelated Litigations being at issue was 26 not broached until the last week of April, (3) a good faith effort was made to address the Unrelated

Litigations without filing a motion, (4) trial starts Monday, May 12, and (5) Mr. Shuster is expected to be called that same day. Time is of the essence.

These Unrelated Litigations involve allegations of fraud, breach of fiduciary duty, tortious interference, and defamation. Each of these causes of action are unrelated to the '605 Patent or the parties' claims and defenses—(non)infringement, (in)validity, and the amount of any damages. Introducing irrelevant and unfairly prejudicial evidence of the Unrelated Litigations on cross-examination of Mr. Shuster (or any witness for that matter) serves no purpose other than to confuse or inflame the jury. Because these Unrelated Litigations are irrelevant and highly prejudicial, Utherville Gaming requests the Court's leave to file its motion in limine attached to this motion such that it may resolve the matter prior to any query / objection that would otherwise taint the jury.

Epic Games—while not agreeing to the substance of the underlying motion in limine—agrees to the timing of this motion for leave. Epic Games’ opposition would come due tomorrow, May 8, on or before noon Pacific time. Utherverse Gaming would not further reply.

CONCLUSION

The Court is requested to grant leave to file the proposed motion in limine attached hereto as Exhibit A. The Court is further requested to order Epic Games to file its opposition no later than May 8 at noon Pacific as agreed upon by the parties.

1 DATED this 7th day of May, 2025

Respectfully submitted,

SEC Charges Two New Defendants in Fraudulent Microcap Manipulation Scheme Orchestrated Through International Accounts

Litigation Release No. 24583 / August 30, 2019

Securities and Exchange Commission v.
Morrie Tobin et al., Civil Action No. 1:18-
CV-12451 (D. Mass. filed November 27, 2018)

The Securities and Exchange Commission filed an amended complaint charging Brian Quinn, a California resident, and David Skriloff, a New York resident, for their roles in a scheme to profit from the manipulation and illegal sale of stock of a publicly traded company, Environmental Packaging Technologies Holdings, Inc., of which Skriloff was the CEO.

On October 2, 2018, the SEC filed an emergency action and obtained an asset freeze against Roger Knox and Wintercap SA, charging them with a scheme that generated more than $165 million of illegal sales of stock in at least 50 microcap companies. On November 28, 2018, the SEC charged Morrie Tobin, Milan Patel, Matthew Ledvina, and Daniel Lacher, with scheming to hide Tobin's ownership and control over Environmental Packaging and CURE Pharmaceutical Holding Corp. by using offshore entities to hold his stock and by establishing accounts to sell that stock at Wintercap.

According to the SEC's amended complaint, Quinn helped facilitate a reverse merger between a public shell company secretly controlled by Tobin and a private-bulk packaging company for which Skriloff served as CEO. Skriloff, who continued as the CEO of the combined entity, Environmental Packaging, allegedly raised money from investors, which the defendants used to pay a stock promoter to tout the stock of Environmental Packaging, while creating the impression that the promoter's recommendation came from a neutral third party. Skriloff also allegedly attempted to disguise the payment to the stock promoter as part of a purported consulting agreement. The amended complaint further alleges that, during the promotional campaign, the price of Environmental Packaging shares more than doubled and Tobin profited from the higher share price. According to the amended complaint,

RESOURCES

Skriloff, as the CEO of Environmental Packaging, also made misstatements in public reports filed with the SEC about the reverse merger and the company's connection to the promotional campaign.

The amended complaint also alleges that after the SEC halted trading in the securities of Environmental Packaging ♣ on June 27, 2017, the defendants took steps to obstruct the SEC's investigation - and conceal their own involvement in the matter - by arranging to change the names listed on Wintercap account records.

The SEC's amended complaint, filed in the U.S. District Court in the District of Massachusetts, charges each of the defendants with violating various federal securities laws, including the antifraud provisions of Sections 17(a)(1) and (3) of the Securities Act of 1933 and Section 10(b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and Rules 10b-5(a) and (c) thereunder. It also charges Tobin, Patel, Ledvina, Lacher, and Quinn with violating the securities registration provisions of Sections 5(a) and (c) of the Securities Act. The amended complaint further charges Skriloff with violating Section 17(a)(2) of the Securities Act of 1933 and Section 10(b) of the Exchange Act and Rule 10b-5(b) thereunder, aiding and abetting the other defendants' violations of Section 10(b) of the Exchange Act and Sections 17(a)(1) and (3) of the Securities Act, and aiding and abetting Environmental Packaging's violation of Section 17(a)(2) of the Securities Act. The SEC seeks a permanent injunction against future violations, disgorgement of allegedly ill-gotten gains plus prejudgment interest, penny stock bars, and monetary penalties. The SEC also seeks an order barring Skriloff from serving as an officer and director of a public company.

The SEC's continuing investigation and litigation is being conducted by J. Lauchlan Wash, Trevor Donelan, Eric Forni, David Scheffler, Rebecca Israel, Jonathan Allen, Kathleen Shields, Susan Anderson, and Amy Gwiazda of the SEC's Boston Regional Office, in coordination with the Enforcement Division's Microcap Fraud Task Force. The SEC appreciates the assistance of the FBI and the U.S. Attorney's Office for the District of Massachusetts, the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (FINRA), the British Columbia Securities Commission, the Ontario Securities Commission, and the Malta Financial Services Authority.

U.S. SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION Litigation Release No. 26163 / October 18, 2024

Securities and Exchange Commission v. Morrie Tobin et al.*, Civil Action No. 1:18-CV-12451 (D. Mass. filed November 27, 2018)

SEC Obtains Judgments Against Defendants in a Fraudulent Microcap Manipulation Scheme

The Securities and Exchange Commission announced today that, on October 17, 2024, the U.S. District Court for the District of Massachusetts entered final judgments against California resident Brian Quinn and New York resident David Skriloff in an SEC case alleging that they participated in a fraudulent scheme to profit from the manipulation and illegal sale of stock of a publicly traded company, Environmental Packaging Technologies Holdings, Inc. ("Environmental Packaging"). Among other things, they were each ordered to pay $230,464 in civil penalties. The court previously entered judgments against four other defendants, including a judgment against Swiss resident Daniel Lacher in 2022 that, among other things, ordered him to pay a total of over $479,000 in disgorgement of ill-gotten gains, prejudgment interest, and civil penalties.

The SEC's complaint was filed in 2018 against four defendants, including Lacher, and was later amended in 2019 to add Quinn and Skriloff as defendants. The complaint alleged that Quinn facilitated the reverse merger between a "public shell company" secretly controlled by co-defendant Morrie Tobin and a privately held operating company of which Skriloff was the Chief Executive Officer. The complaint further alleged that after the reverse merger, Quinn arranged and oversaw a $1 million promotional campaign designed to increase demand for Environmental Packaging's publicly traded stock and directed certain offshore asset managers to sell stock held by Tobin for a profit. According to the complaint, Skriloff became the CEO of Environmental Packaging and made misstatements in public reports filed with the SEC about the reverse merger and the company's connection to the promotional campaign. The complaint alleged that Lacher, an offshore asset manager, facilitated various schemes, including the Environmental Packaging scheme, by utilizing a network of nominee entities to secretly hold control persons' shares, arranging for the deposit of those shares with brokers, selling those shares to investors, and sharing in the profits. The SEC halted trading in the securities of Environmental Packaging on June 27, 2017. According to the complaint, Quinn, Skriloff, and Lacher participated in efforts to cover up the fraud and obstruct the investigation after the trading halt.

The SEC's complaint charged Quinn, Skriloff, and Lacher with violating the antifraud provisions of Sections 17(a)(1) and (3) of the Securities Act of 1933 ("Securities Act") and Section 10(b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 ("Exchange Act") and Rules 10b-5(a) and (c) thereunder. It also charged Quinn with violating the securities registration provisions of Sections 5(a) and (c) of the Securities Act. The complaint charged Skriloff with violating Section 17(a)(2) of the Securities Act and Section 10(b) of the Exchange Act and Rule 10b-5(b) thereunder, aiding and abetting the other defendants' violations of Section 10(b) of the Exchange Act and Sections 17(a)(1) and (3) of the Securities Act, and aiding and abetting Environmental Packaging's violation of Section 17(a)(2) of the Securities Act.

Without admitting or denying the allegations, Quinn consented to the entry of a final judgment that includes injunctive relief for all charged provisions and the penny stock bar that were previously ordered by the court in a July 2022 judgment and orders him to pay a $230,464 civil penalty. Without admitting or denying the allegations, Skriloff consented to the entry of a final judgment that includes injunctive relief for all charged provisions and the penny stock and officer and director bars that were previously ordered by the court in an August 2024 judgment and orders him to pay a $230,464 civil penalty. The court previously entered a final judgment by default against Lacher on April 22, 2022 that included injunctive relief for all charged provisions, a penny stock bar, and an order to pay disgorgement of $53,658.73, pre-judgment interest of $11,641.93, and a civil penalty of $414,366.

The court previously entered judgments in 2021 against defendants Tobin, Matthew Ledvina, and Milan Patel, and, with the entry of the judgments against Quinn and Skriloff, the SEC's case is now concluded.

The SEC's litigation was conducted by David Scheffler, Kathleen Shields, J. Lauchlan Wash, and Amy Gwiazda of the SEC's Boston Regional Office.
